FOCH SAVES HIS RESERVES

WEST FRONT CHIEF SAYS THEY SHOULD HAVE BUT ONE USE
—THE KNOCK-OUT BLOW.

London, June 13.—That battles can be won in the end only by the army which takes the offensive is the significant declaration made by General Foch, commander in chief of the allies, in an important article contributed by him to the weekly journal, The Field, in which he discusses the problem of the soldier and the way to victory.

"Modern warfare, to arrive at its end and to impose its will on the enemy," says General Foch, "recognizes only one means—destruction of the enemy's organized forces."

"War undertakes and prepares this destruction by battle, which brings about the overthrow of the adversary, disorganizes his command, destroys his discipline and nullifies his units, as far as their fighting power is concerned."

"Our first axiom must be that completely to achieve its object, a battle must be purely offensive. A purely defensive battle, even well conducted, does not result in a victory. It is simply a game that must be begun over again."

"From this it is an obvious corollary that an offensive, whether started at the beginning of an action or whether it follows the defensive, can give results and in consequences must always be adopted at the finish."

"To maintain our position is not synonymous with being victorious and even prepares for a defeat. If we remain where we are, and do not pass to the offensive to fix the direction of attack, to guard against the plans of the enemy and prevent him from carrying out the same maneuver, we must undertake to carry on and sustain numerous combats, each with determined aim."

"But since there remains no doubt that defensive attack is the very key-stone of a battle, all other actions which make up a battle must be envisaged, considered, organized, provided with forces in the measure in which they will prepare, facilitate and guarantee development of a decisive attack characterized by mass, surprise, speed and for which in consequence it is essential that there shall be the maximum reserve possible of troops of maneuver."

The Knock-out Blow.

"The reserve, that is to say, the prepared bludgeon, is organized and kept carefully instructed to execute the single act of battle from which results are expected, namely, the decisive attack."

"Reserves must be husbanded with the most extreme parsimony so that the bludgeon may be strong enough to make the blow as violent as possible. Let loose at the finish, without any lurking idea of saving them, with a well thought-out plan for winning the battle at a point chosen and determined, reserves are thrown in all together in action surpassing in violence and energy all other phases of battle, an action with proper characteristics, surprise, mass and speed. All our forces really participate, either by preparing it or by carrying it out."

"In this, our supreme arm, we must not be deceived by appearance. Although theory fails when applied by feeble hands and when accessories obscure the main principle, history and reason show us that in battle, there is a single argument which is worth while, namely, decisive attack which is alone capable of assuring the desired result—the overthrow of the adversary."

HE WAS FOR GERMANY—GOT TAR AND FEATHERS.

(By International News Service.)

Vickburg, Miss., June 13.—"I am for Germany and I am waiting the day—and it won't be more than two or three years at most—when Germany invades the United States. Germany will make a real country out of this slaphop, grafting nation."

This statement, accredited to W. M. Wilkerson, caused him to be taken from a passenger train and treated to a coat of tar and feathers. He was then committed to jail.

ODD CENTS TO RED CROSS.

(By International News Service.)

Denver, Col., June 13.—Some 300 girls in the employ of the traffic department of a telegraph company in Denver twice a month are turning the odd pennies they receive in wages over to the Red Cross. Miss Alice Dilling was the originator of the plan by which, it is estimated, the Red Cross will profit $700 a year.

UNFEELING SERGEANT GETS HEAVY SENTENCE.

(By International News Service.)

Little Rock, Ark., June 12.—Here is how the United States protects her private soldiers. William L. Taylor, an enlisted man at Camp Pike, was ill and sent word to his sergeant, George W. Reubling. "I don't care, let him die," said Reubling. Reubling was tried by court martial, convicted, sentenced to five years in military prison, forfeits all pay and allowances and is dishonorably discharged from the army.

DEATH FOLLOWS SPRAINED ANKLE, DECLARES CORONER.

(By International News Service.)

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—A sprained ankle resulted in the death of John Robert Lewis, of Auburn, according to the findings of a coroner here. Lewis received his injury in jumping from a runaway team of horses. An embolus broke in the ankle and caused an obstruction in the circulation of the heart, the coroner said.

BUG SPRAYERS INCLUDE AU-TO AND CITY PAYS $25.

(By International News Service.)

Portland, Ore., June 13.—Men were recently detained to "spray all bugs in the park."

They did. One of the "bugs" had four rubber tired wheels and a tin body, and is alleged by the owner to have been a nice automobile before it was sprayed. The city paid $25 for the rehabilitation of the "bug."

"DUKE," JUST A HORSE, JOINS RED CROSS BODY.

(By International News Service.)

Seattle, Wash., June 13.—The life and services of Duke will henceforth be devoted to the Red Cross. Duke is a pet horse and because his owner, Frank Larson, had no money to contribute to the Red Cross, he gave Duke. The animal was brought to the Red Cross headquarters and duly received for.

OPIMUM PIE LATEST, BUT JAILER PEERS UNDER CRUST.

(By International News Service.)

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—Pie is a opium! Henry Walker, a prisoner in the county jail here, nearly got it. He had been confined for violation of the narcotic law. His wife sent him a pie. The jailer acted as custodian and peeped beneath the crust. It yielded two small packets of powdered opium. Mrs. Walker was given a berth in a room adjoining her husband's.

OPEN EMERGENCY HOMES FOR WIVES OF SOLDIERS.

(By International News Service.)

Des Moines, Ia., June 12.—Two emergency homes which will care for the wives of soldiers after leaving a maternity hospital have been established here by the civilian relief department of the Red Cross.

The plan is to keep the mothers in the homes until they have regained their strength. They will be taught to care for their babies and for themselves. After leaving, an effort will be made to see that they are located in homes.
